Plus, Minus, Interesting (PMI)
Topic: Reflect on Learning Environment Management

➕ Plus	➖ Minus	❓ Interesting
• Understand the importance of connections and relationships for building a learning environment. We are social beings who crave engagement and sense of belonging. All of us desire the company of others on a regular basis. • Have learned strategies to help build a positive, supportive, and inclusive learning community. Have learned useful tips and points on developing collaborative, attentive, connecting, and	• To understand and identify what the dynamic learning environment is or what the common components are of a typical learning environment is easy, but to master how to effectively use each of the factors to engage your students is far more difficult. Need practices and experience to build my unique teaching and learning environment. • Handling incivility or "Hot Moments" in the learning environment is hard and	• There are so many resources to learn from on 1001 Brightspace Modules, and so many people around me who can help me with difficulties. Just like creating a learning community for students, we also need to create an effective learning environment for ourselves to develop our teaching skills and to share our knowledge and experience. • There are so many aspects defined for the learning environment. It not only information sharing behaviours.	critical to me. Just like the exemplar told, I need to prepare some common words, or statements to use in some specific situations to help me handle the special moments.	contains hardware environments such as classrooms, projectors, and Brightspace tools, it also includes virtual aspects from cultural backgrounds, students' norms, to interactive methods during class and the way you provide feedback and the way you evaluate them. Such a dynamic definition of learning environment helps me to comprehensively understand what a learning environment is and how I can build an inclusive learning community for every of my courses.